Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Andoh et al (US 5,568,765).

Andoh teaches:

Regarding Claim 1: Fig 1 shows a deep fat fryer 1, a frying pan 8, a heating element or magnetron 18 for heating the cooking oil in vessel 7. An oil temperature sensor 9 senses the temperature of the oil in oil vessel 7. A controller is connected to sensor 9.

See Column 14 Line 50- Column 15 Line 5. The controller and temperature sensor 9 monitor the temperature and send signal to turn the heater on if the temperature sensed is below a lower limit or turn the heater off if the temperature is above an upper limit.

See Column 21, Lines 50-65 and Fig 20. Fig 12 shows the operation of the lowering and control system. The heating element is activated and a lowering signal based on T1 is send to activate the drive motor to lower the food. A second signal based on the steepness of a temperature rise over time S213 is sent for lowering food. Fig 19 shows the upper limit of the sensed temperature which would be reached if no food is present.

Regarding Claim 2: A lowering signal is generated based on a first temperature signal at S205.

Regarding Claims 3-6: A boost condition or enhanced heating power at step S210 may be set by a user through controller 20. The controller 20 is also used for setting an upper temperature and for ending the enhanced heating condition. See Column 16, Lines 45-64.

Regarding Claim 7: The door 33 closing after the vessel has been lowered is a human perceptible signal in response to a food lowering signal.

Regarding Claim 8: A lifting mechanism 16 is included to lift and lower the oil vessel. Microswitch 14 generates a signal which is sent to the control panel 20 which generates a human perceptible signal for the position of the oil vessel 7.
